

This is “Acknowledgments”, article 2 from the book Communication for Business Success \(index.html\) (v. 1.0).

This book is licensed under a Creative Commons by-nc-sa 3.0 license. See the license for more details, but that basically means you can share this book as long as you credit the author (but see below), don't make money from it, and do make it available to everyone else under the same terms.

This content was accessible as of December 29, 2012, and it was downloaded then by Andy Schmitz in an effort to preserve the availability of this book.

Normally, the author and publisher would be credited here. However, the publisher has asked for the customary Creative Commons attribution to the original publisher, authors, title, and book URI to be removed. Additionally, per the publisher's request, their name has been removed in some passages. More information is available on this project's attribution page.

For more information on the source of this book, or why it is available for free, please see the project's home page. You can browse or download additional books there.

Acknowledgments

I would like to say thank you to Jeff Shelstad for answering my e-mail after I heard about Unnamed Publisher on National Public Radio. To say Unnamed Publisher's model just makes sense is an understatement. I am honored to be a part of it all.

Jenn Yee has been an excellent project manager. When I needed feedback she made sure it was available, and when I needed space to create, she helped facilitate it. Writing can be a solitary activity but she made the journey positive and productive.

Elsa Peterson, you are wonderful. Your sharp eye for detail, consistent dedication to the text, and quick turnarounds on requests were invaluable to this project. I have never worked with a better developmental editor. Dan Obuchowski also offered valuable insight into the construction industry and practices that lends real-world credibility to this text.

To my reviewers in the field, I appreciate all the specific feedback that contributed to clear improvements in the text.

- Brenda Jolivette Jones, San Jacinto College - Central Campus (brenda.jolivette@sjcd.edu)
- Christina McCale, Regis University (cmccale@regis.edu)
- Billie Miller, Ph.D., Cosumnes River College (millerb@crc.losrios.edu)
- Joyce Ezrow, Anne Arundel Community College (jezrow@aacc.edu)
- Sally Lederer, U of M Carlson School of Management (sally@melsa.org)
- Greg Larson, Salt Lake Community College (Greg.Larson@slcc.edu)
- Gayla Jurevich, Fresno City College (gayla.jurevich@fresnocitycollege.edu)
- Laura Newton, Florida State University (lpnewton@fsu.edu)
- Judy Grace, Arizona State University (judy.grace@asu.edu)
- Rita Rud, Purdue University (ritarud@purdue.edu)
- Edna Boroski, Trident Technical College (edna.boroski@tridenttech.edu)

Your words of encouragement and constructive criticism have made this effort worthwhile.

Finally, to Lisa, my life partner, you are amazing. You were a draft recruit on this project and quickly learned the formatting requirements in short order. You are a valuable part of this team. Your relentless editing serves as a clear example of Strunk's axiom: "Omit needless words." This text is the better for it. Writing with you, like life, gets better with each year.

Acknowledgments

Scott McLean

Puerto Montt, Chile